

Convoy Feud Is Talked Out

Israeli Premier Announces Agreement Been Reached

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—“Agreement has been reached in the Mt. Scopus convoy affair,” Premier Ben-Gurion announced today after two days’ conference with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Ben-Gurion appeared in a satisfied mood as he told reporters the talks had been useful. He gave no details of the agreement.

Katy's Claim Of Cash Loss Is Challenged

Attorneys Claim Use Of Profits To Cover Subsidiary's Losses

KANSAS CITY — Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad claims that it is losing money were challenged yesterday by attorneys at attempting to stop the company from abandoning a branch line.

The attorneys, in questioning Katy comptroller J. T. Stephenson at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the proposed abandonment, charged that Katy is using profits to cover losses of a subsidiary railway.

Stephenson admitted that the parent company, incorporated in Missouri, operated last year at a profit of more than eight million dollars. Monday, Katy Vice President Charles T. Williams of Dallas told the hearing that the system has suffered a decline in income for five straight years, and that it must abandon some of its branch lines.

Under questioning Stephenson said Katy is made up of three operating companies — the parent line, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co., of Kansas and the Beaver, Meade & Englewood Railroad Co.

Oliver Rhinehart, attorney for business interests in Paola, Kan., charged that Katy was using profits to cover losses of a subsidiary, and Stephenson admitted that the Texas firm has lost money. He was not asked to give a loss figure.

The firm wants to abandon an 86-mile branch line between Bryson, Mo., and Paola on the ground that the branch is losing money.

Under questioning by Howard McFadden, Jefferson City, attorney for the Missouri Public Service Commission, Stephenson said that freight bound from St. Louis to Kansas City must go by way of Parsons, Kan. He testified the Parsons route was 233.3 miles from Bryson to Paola, while over the branch line, which the road seeks to abandon, it is less than 90 miles.

May Force Poles To Put Money In Savings

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Poland's Communist government may start putting pressure on Poles to put their money into state savings systems, Wladyslaw Gomulka indicated last night.

The Communist party boss said Poland suffers from serious economic difficulties with too much money chasing too few goods. “Everybody who earns more than the minimum necessary for living should start systematic saving,” Gomulka told a group of coal miners, who are the highest paid workers in Poland. “We shall present proposals on this matter very soon.”

Intends to Resign

COLUMBIA (AP)—The Columbia Tribune said today that it had learned that Jerry Claiborne, assistant football coach at the University of Missouri here, will resign this afternoon and go to Tuscaloosa, Ala., tomorrow to become a member of the University of Alabama grid staff under his old coach and later boss, Paul (Bear) Bryant.

An Israeli convoy had been scheduled to proceed to Mt. Scopus today but it was held up.

Reports from the Jordan side of Jerusalem said earlier in the day Israeli authorities had issued instructions to prepare for the departure of a convoy through Jordan's line, possibly tomorrow.

This was considered a tipoff that a solution was imminent since Jordan must have prior notice in order to prepare an escort for the convoy.

It apparently was a second proposal by Hammarskjöld that brought a solution. A usually well-informed source said he made a proposal in opening talks yesterday but this was rejected by Israel.

Jordan refused two weeks ago to let a gasoline-carrying convoy go through Jordan territory to Israeli-held Mt. Scopus just north of Jerusalem.

Israel denied that any military work was involved. Her spokesmen said the gasoline would be used to run an electric generator.

Refusal by Jordan to let gasoline-carrying convoys through the Israeli-held Mt. Scopus enclave, one of the causes of Hammarskjöld's Middle East visit, continued despite his talks Monday in Amman with Jordanian officials. The secretary general began the conversations with Israeli officials here yesterday.

Hammarskjöld's talk with Ben-Gurion was expected to be followed by a meeting of U. N. and Israeli military, political and legal advisers.

Officials of the U. N. truce supervisory organization were reluctant to discuss prospects for departure of the convoy, which had been scheduled for today.

There were no signs at Mandelbaum Gate, the border crossing that a convoy was expected today. Jordan turned back the last convoy two weeks ago because it carried nine drums of gasoline. Jordanian officials charged the gas would be used in connection with fortification work prohibited by the Palestine armistice.

Temperatures Thursday through Monday are expected to average five to eight degrees below normal in the east and about normal in the west.

New Charge Of Extortion For Squillante

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Vincent J. Squillante, 40, already was in jail in New York City on a years-old federal income tax charge. He refused to talk in Washington before a Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of labor and management. The committee was inquiring into mobster control of a large segment of the 50-million-dollar-a-year garbage carting industry in the New York City Metropolitan area.

One count in the indictment against Vincent Squillante charges him with a $5,000 shakedown of Anthony and John Montesano, brothers and owners of the East Meadow Sanitation Co., on threats of forcing them out of business and harming their children.

The Montesano brothers recently were cooperative witnesses before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington. Other indictment counts involve units in the row of department stores and specialty shops in Manhattan — dubbed the “Miracle Mile.” The grand jury charged that four stores were picketed in a move to force them to discontinue their existing garbage contracts and sign up with members of the now-defunct Inter-County Cartmen's Assn., a Squillante enterprise.

Contractors Encourage Moratorium

They Join Builders In Inviting Unions To Make Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Associated General Contractors of America today joined home builders in inviting the construction unions to make concrete proposals for a 1958 moratorium on wage increases.

The AGC, which represents most of the country's biggest builders, welcomed the one-year wage freeze made Monday by Richard J. Gray, president of the 19-union Building Trades Council of the AFL-CIO.

James D. Marshall, AGC executive director, issued a statement saying construction employers “naturally would be encouraged by a statesmanlike approach” by the union leadership toward the curbing of inflation in the industry.

“The association will study carefully, with a view toward possible cooperation, any concrete move for a sound policy in meeting problems faced by the construction industry and the national economy,” he said.

A similar invitation to the unions to present a specific anti-inflation program for joint union and management consideration was made yesterday by the president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, George S. Goodyear.

Any concrete proposals which Gray may make toward this end will be given the fullest support of the home building industry, said Goodyear.

Gray's call for an unorthodox approach to the cost-inflation problem of rising building costs was chilled yesterday, however, by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Mrs. Roosevelt Backs President's Proposal For Science Committee

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt endorses “with provisions” President Eisenhower's proposal to create a bi-partisan committee to meet the threat of Russian science.

“I heartily support the proposal, provided it really has equal representation of both parties,” the widow of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt told a news conference yesterday.

The proposal to send Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, to the NATO Paris conference “has no point unless Stevenson has power,” she said.

Vanguard Countdown Underway

First of Satellites Is Expected to Take Place in Afternoon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The countdown toward a launching of the free world's first miniature moon started early today with the goal of a 4 p.m. firing.

Directors of the test firing of the Vanguard satellite said the countdown began at 5 a.m. It normally occupies about 11 hours.

C. Herschel Schooley, Defense Department information director, said that there had been a series of delays and a false start or two.

If everything now checks out perfectly, the launching hour will be 4 p.m.

Paul Walsh, Vanguard deputy director, explained that in the countdown the men in charge of the launching run through a check list of 23 typewritten pages.

As a timing measure, the count is announced over the Cape Canaveral public address system once each hour in the initial stages.

As the launching hour approaches, the count is advanced to every five minutes, then to every minute, and finally to seconds.

This permits every man to check to see that each part for which he is responsible is functioning as it should at a given moment of time.

“Holds” are so frequent and so routine that it is rare for a launching to be accomplished in the exact time allowed.

Workers said no major troubles had developed but a myriad of minor electrical difficulties — frayed wires, short circuits and the like — had.

Much of the difficulty was with the first two stages of the three-stage rocket, because they involve the use of highly volatile liquid propellants. Rocket engines using liquid fuel are much more complicated, and hence less reliable, than those employing solid propellants.

While the 72-foot-tall white rocket, slender and graceful, stood in its launching stand, excitement swirled about it. The area, closed to all outsiders, blazed with floodlights.

During one of the Vanguard delays, attempts were made by other missile crews to squeeze in some of their work. Schooley reported that a Northrop aircraft crew started to launch a Snark guided missile but halted its countdown.

There also reportedly was a static test—a firing on the stand—of a Thor intermediate-range missile.

Stormy Career Ends

GOP Committeeman Bromwich Quits Job

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A stormy 18-month career as Missouri national committeeman of the Republican party ended abruptly last night when Elroy W. Bromwich of St. Louis quit the job.

The resignation, in a telegram to Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asked to be effective immediately.

Although Bromwich twice was involved in sharp disputes with a number of other Missouri Republican powers he said the resignation was caused by pressing business interests.

The ex-committeeman's only comment on his long intra-party battles was:

“What is past is past. I am not angry at anyone. There is no bitterness on my part. I am just too busy with other business.”

He is president of Sterling Aluminum Products Co. of St. Charles, a job he has had less than a year, and he also presides over the affairs of the Tools and Supplies, Inc., of St. Louis.

The first Bromwich controversy began when he contributed to a poll in the interests of Harold E. Stassen which said Vice President Nixon would be a drag on President Eisenhower in the 1956 election. At the time Stassen was an active candidate for the vice presidential nomination.

Soon after followed bitter arguments as to how Republican political patronage should be handled in Missouri. At one time it was thought this was settled when it was announced after a meeting in Kansas City that the patronage would be assigned through Bromwich.

But the feud began when State Chairman Perry Compton resigned and with the help of the late Barak T. Mattingly won the election to that post of H. Kenneth Wangelin of Poplar Bluff.

There was a clash over the selection of United States Dist. Judge Randolph Weber of Poplar Bluff, in which the state committee had its way over objections from national committee members.

After that the patronage reportedly went largely through the state committee.

Bromwich ceased to take a very active part in party affairs. He has often said that his responsibilities at Sterling were more important than and took precedence over party work.

Political observers wonder if the rough waters of Missouri politics will now be smoothed. Missouri was the only state other than those in the Deep South that did not vote in favor of President Eisenhower in the last national election.

Epidemic of Asian Flu Has Tapered Off, Blair Is Told

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The epidemic of Asian flu in Missouri “appears to be tapering off,” Dr. H. M. Hardwicke told Gov. James T. Blair today.

Dr. Hardwicke, acting director of the State Health Division, estimated Missouri has had about half a million cases of an upper respiratory infection resembling Asian flu.

He told the governor in his monthly report the health division has received reports of 20,402 cases, compared with 284 during the same period last year. The only deaths reported have been chronically ill persons.

Girl Believed Abducted by Man Offering Ride

SYCAMORE, Ill. (AP)—A 7-year-old girl was believed abducted last night by a man who had offered her and a girl companion a ride in a car.

Several hundred persons headed by city, county and state police, failed after an all-night search to find the missing girl, Maria Ridolph.

Police Chief William Hindenburg said no clues had been found during the all-night search of vacant lots, corn fields, freight cars and vacant houses and buildings in this DeKalb County community of some 7,000, about 60 miles northwest of Chicago. A search also was made along the Kishwaukee River.

Hindenburg said the Ridolph girl, the youngest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ridolph, had been last seen about 7 p.m. She was playing with Cathie Sigman, 8, near the Sigman home.

Hindenburg said the Sigman girl told him a man who called himself “Johnny” stopped to talk to the girls and offered them a ride in a car or a bus. The Sigman girl said she told the man to wait until she got a pair of mittens. When she returned, she said, the man and Maria were gone.

A plastic doll owned by Maria was found on the street near where she and Cathie had been playing.

Army Announces Plan to Close Ft. Crowder

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army said today it is placing Ft. Crowder, Mo., and the disciplinary barracks there on inactive status by Jan. 31.

About 625 military personnel have been stationed there and 300 civilians employed.

The Army said the barracks are being closed because of reduced need for such establishments. Three other disciplinary barracks remain in operation—at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.; Lompoc, Calif., and New Cumberland, Pa.

Closing the Missouri barracks and fort, the Army said, will save about $1,200,000 a year.

A section of the southwest Missouri reservation has been used for an Army prison since 1953. Before that time it was on a standby basis.

At present there are 573 prisoners at the barracks, but all except 275 of these will have completed their sentences by the closing date, the Army said.

Closing of the prison will not affect the operation of the big defense installation in another section of the reservation, the Rocketdyne plant of the North American Aviation Co.

Built early in World War II, Ft. Crowder was originally a signal corps training center. At the peak of its operations it had 18,079 buildings with a capacity of 70,000 troops.

Elderly Man and Wife Die in House Blaze

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An elderly man and his wife died early today in a fire at their four-room frame home in suburban Overland.

Overland police identified the victims as James A. Whittington, 63, and his wife, Mary Anna, 77. Both were dead on arrival at St. Louis County Hospital.

Firemen quickly brought the fire under control. The victims suffocated in heavy smoke in a bedroom.

Reed Resigns From Civil Rights Post

WASHINGTON — Plans of the new Civil Rights Commission to start work next week were halted indefinitely today by the surprise resignation of its chairman.

Stanley F. Reed, the former Supreme Court justice who had agreed to head the six-member commission, disclosed yesterday he had changed his mind.

Reed told President Eisenhower in a letter of resignation that "for me to accept such an investigatory and advisory office in the executive department, after service upon the Supreme Court in many civil rights cases, now seems to me incompatible with my obligations as a judge."

The White House made public Reed's handwritten letter, along with Eisenhower's reply accepting the resignation.

The President wrote Reed that "under the circumstances, I must respect the reasons you give for being unable to serve" on the commission.

The White House announced indefinite postponement of a commission organization meeting that had been set for next Monday. Eisenhower's press secretary James C. Hagerty said he had no information on when the President will name a new commission member to replace Reed.

The bipartisan commission was created by Congress in a civil rights law passed late last summer. The group was empowered to make a two-year investigation of federal laws and policies bearing on equal protection of the laws, and to look into alleged denials of voting rights.

Nominations to the commission are subject to Senate confirmation. After Reed's appointment Nov. 7, there was no open Senate opposition, even though Southern senators were aware he took part in the Supreme Court's unanimous 1954 decision that racial segregation in the public schools is unconstitutional.

Search Continues For Son of St. Louis School Board President

ST. LOUIS — A search continued today for the missing 33-year-old son of the president of the St. Louis Board of Education.

James N. McCaffery, father of six children aged one to eight, has been missing since Monday morning. He is the son of James J. McCaffery, president of the school board.

The younger McCaffery, an employee in the city water division, was last seen Monday morning by a fellow employee, McCaffery's wife said.

Police said McCaffery's car was found with a hat, coat and other clothing in it and a note which said "if there was any other way I would have taken it."

Local Typographical

weekly newspaper which has since gone out of existence.

He also helped out during several weeks on the New Bloomfield News, also a weekly paper, that was back in 1908.

When his parents moved to Sedalia he went with the Sedalia Democrat in 1910 in March of that year. Then in 1917 he went to Nebraska and stayed four months, returning home in the early part of 1918, and joined the Sedalia Local No. 206 in June of that year.

In 1919 he left Sedalia again, going back to Nebraska to take up farming, but kept his Union card in effect. In 1920 he returned to Sedalia and went back with the Democrat on March 1, 1920, and has been employed by the Democrat-Capital since that time. At present he is foreman on the Capital side.

Ermo was 64 years old November 25, and says he will retire at 65.

Another of the "Old Timers" is Otto C. Botz. He received his Typographical Union Card from Local No. 206 in February 1901. Mr. Botz after getting out of active printing work received an honorable withdrawal card several years ago from the Jefferson City Typographical Union to which local he had transferred his membership from Sedalia.

He recalls his early days as a printer:

"If my records are correct," he says, "I was admitted to the Union at the February, 1901 meeting, took my traveling card the following spring and headed West to become a Journeyman Printer in the true sense of the word."

"The going was tough at times, and only my union card made it possible for me to secure a job and learn that what I didn't know about the printing business would fill a whole library. Even though I was what was then known as a "swifty" on straight matter I won every contest I was pitted against on the West Coast, where they bet on anything any time."

"What I did not know when I left home was that my admission to the Union was contested after I left Sedalia, because I was 'under age' (born 10-20-81). I did not stay long enough in any town to be 'caught up with' until the October meeting in Portland, Ore., just a few days before being 21, when the ruling came down that while I was ineligible at the time, since I had reached the correct age, I could remain in," he said.

He has many interesting stories of the early day printers, and also has many memories of his days as a printer. He has many photographs of the early days, especially the "Gay 90's", interior and exterior views of the old Sedalia Journal at 310 West Second, the old Bazon, and others, also papers from the old Democrat, Gazette Journal, etc., and records of the dedication of the first Monotype machine West of the Mississippi in Sedalia.

Omer B. Poundstone is probably the oldest active card holder in the Sedalia Local in term of membership. He is a machine operator on the Sedalia Democrat today.

Poundstone became a member of the Printers Union on April 3, 1910 while a student at the University of Missouri and has kept his card active ever since that time. He left Columbia as a young man and went to Iowa where he worked for a time and returned to Sedalia after World War I, taking an active interest in the old Thomas Book Store on East Second Street. For a term of years when he was active in the business end of the business and served as Mayor of Sedalia, he continued to keep a paid up membership in the Union although he was not working at the trade at the time.

He was awarded his 40-year pin in 1950. Poundstone is 72 years old. Henry Shepherd is another of the old timers who began his printing education in Eldon, Mo., and came to Sedalia in 1920 taking a membership card in the Sedalia Local on May 2, 1920. He was employed, at the time, by the Sedalia Democrat Co., and continued to work as an operator until his retirement on December 3, 1954.

Mace Ayres is another "Old Timer" taking his card in the Union in Kansas City in the early 20's and came to Sedalia about 1922 working part time at the old Sedalia Capital and then regularly in the Democrat in 1923 and has since carried his card in the Sedalia Local.

P. Emmet Sullivan, after serving his apprenticeship on the Democrat, was initiated into the Sedalia Local on March 9, 1924. He is now with the Democrat as the machinist.

TENNIS FOR EVERYONE — School children are visible proof of the popularity of tennis in Australia as they put on giant exhibition of tennis strokes in a Sydney stadium.

But Suggestions Abound

United States Is Without Name for Its Own Satellite

WASHINGTON — Russia has the Sputnik but we still don't have a name for our own satellite.

This is not the fault of the American people. A newspaper writer — this one, as a matter of fact — invited suggestions some weeks ago and the replies are still coming in. Very ingenious, many of them. The public applied itself.

Trouble is not many of the suggestions are likely to appeal to those in authority. They tend to be a bit sarcastic, to point up the fact that this country was a couple of months behind a certain other great power in getting a baby moon operating.

C. J. McQuade, managing editor of the Beckley (W.Va.) Raleigh Register, suggests the name "Fore."

"This golfing term is rightly or wrongly identified with the American government. Too, it sometimes denotes late comers who for one reason or another get in a hurry," he explained.

"Just name it 'The Laggard,'" proposes Telmer P. Vaughan of Charleston, S.C. — an idea that may not appeal to the planners of Navy Operation Vanguard, which was given the job of getting the moonlet and others like it off the ground.

"The name, naturally would be 'Disputnik,'" gibes Ed Ritcher of Nazareth, Pa.

"Why not call ours 'Me, Too?'" inquires Ralph D. Braiste of San Francisco.

Jim Murphy of Santa Barbara Calif., comes up with "Tortoise." And Dick Gibbons of the Battle Creek (Mich.) Enquirer and News suggests either "Mad Ball" or "BLTN," the latter meaning "better late than never."

Not all the suggestions are of a scoffing nature, to be sure.

Dallas Brightwell of Frankfort, Ky., offers "Ikenik" as a tribute to both President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Mrs. J. H. Piper of Shelton, Wash., favors "Moon Scout," since her husband used to be a Boy Scout executive.

Adah Manning Young of Havre, Mont., will settle for nothing less than "Fastmostest."

And Winifred M. Flynn of Hammond, Ind., contributes "Red Herring II" as a reproach to Communists who have stolen U. S. scientific secrets.

Doubtless there is food for thought in all these proposed names. But none, somehow, taps you in the back of the head like good old "Sputnik," to say nothing of the later "Muttnik."

"Sputnik" is, of course, nothing more or less than the Russian word for "satellite." Maybe we'd be well-advised to follow the Russians' example, stop trying to be clever and just call a spade a spade—or, in this case, a satellite a satellite.

Maybe "satellite" sounds as crazy to the Russians as "Sputnik" does to us.

Christmas Tree Has Been Made Legal By Omaha's Council

OMAHA — Three cheers for Santa Claus! The Christmas tree is now fully legal in Omaha. The City Council has passed an emergency ordinance permitting public places—such as schools and churches—to have one standing Christmas tree for every 250 feet of floor space.

Yuletide peace and good will had suffered since the fire department had called attention to a 1943 ordinance prohibiting Christmas trees in public places.

Even though Fire Chief Eugene tree raids," the Omaha Council of Churches demanded a change and Superintendent Harry Burke said the usual school Christmas activities would be banned.

Yesterday the council held an informal conference over lunch. Then the councilmen marched to City Hall, President A. V. Sorensen unwrapped a foot-high tree and put it on his desk and the council gave its vote of confidence to Santa Claus and the Christmas tree in public places.

Red-led Trade Unions Take Over 3rd Dutch Firm In Indonesia

JAKARTA — Communist-led trade unions today took over a third major Dutch enterprise and set a watch on three leading Dutch banks in the downtown business section.

A government source said that the Cabinet had held a special session to discuss ways of preventing a wholesale takeover of Dutch firms by the unions. But so far the government was moving cautiously.

The Soehi Trade Union Federation informed the Jacobson Vandenberg Trading Co. at noon that its members were taking control. Officials of the company protested that the union action was without authority.

'Conquest' Has Value For Everyone

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In introducing Conquest, the new filmed series on the world of science which will appear all too infrequently on CBS-TV, Eric Sevareid, now 45 years old, remarked:

"That's not such a great age, but already I find that my education is old hat. . . . My sons know more than I do."

That's true of all but a small minority of Americans. Watching Conquest certainly will never take the place of a graduate degree in physics, but to a science moron like myself the first offering was engrossing and even stimulating.

There were four segments in the first program on Sunday: A fine documentary filmed account of Maj. David Simonds' 19-mile balloon ascent; the under-ocean explorations of Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia University; an examination of cellular research; a brief discussion by two leading scientists on some of the scientific problems before us as a nation.

The scientifically better educated may have found the first Conquest program somewhat superficial. To me it was not. It raised and tried to answer absorbing questions.

Why, for example, should man wish to study the ocean floor? Because in its depths are written much of the secret history of this globe—and something of its future.

One of the most stimulating qualities of the program to me was to observe the utter absorption of those involved in a variety of scientific pursuits. It demonstrated that the life of a scientist can be a good one.

Perhaps in the oblique manner, if in no other, Conquest fulfills an important role. The young, wondering what they are going to do in maturity, might well be stimulated by observing the lives of scientists.

Stevinson, assisted by Gib Morgan of the Gravois Mills Club, presented the 20 year charter chevrons and certificates to: Gene Bartram, Alvin Bauer, Edgar Carpenter, Leonard Fain, Harold Knoop, Roy Otten, Dr. Loren Washburn, Monarch chevrons for 15 years were given to: Kenneth Goodman, Don Hunter and Dave White. Ten year members are: Earle Beckner, Herb Bellamy, Edgar Hodges, Floyd Nelson and John Nelson.

The evening was concluded with a dance with the Whiskered Band from Stover furnishing the music.

Slight Decline In Economic Health Espied

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel and the metals are both basic to and a thermometer for a large part of the nation's economy. Reduced output today is looked upon as recording a slight deterioration in the general health.

At the same time the metal producers are regarded as a barometer since new orders reveal the plans of manufacturers and builders for some time into the future.

Wall Street, therefore, has been paying close attention to declining output of steel and the price weakness and production slow-down in most of the nonferrous metals.

Declining steel orders at this time are caused by three things: Reduced production by the manufacturers themselves, a wide tendency to live off inventories, and, to a lesser degree, increasing imports.

The American Iron and Steel Institute forecasts this week's steel output at 1,843,000 tons. This is the lowest since August 1956 when the industry was getting over a strike. Or, if you ignore strike periods, it's the lowest since the Christmas holiday week of three years ago.

About 30 per cent of the industry's steel-making capacity appears to be idle. This isn't the institute's figure, since it bases percentage figures on capacity at the start of this year. Several million more tons have been added since then.

Consumption seems to be running higher than the output of domestic mills would indicate. Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, says today actual use of steel here this year will set a record. This will be because fabricators

Farm Wife's 'Honeymoon' Is Top Steer

CHICAGO —A hereford steer, bought by a young Indiana farm wife on her honeymoon, stood in the victor's circle today as the top chunk of beef on the hoof at the International Livestock Exposition.

The 1,000 pound white face called Honeymoon was named the grand champion of the show yesterday. The animal's owner, Mrs. Sue Secondino of New Goshen, broke into excited tears as the judge slapped Honeymoon on the rump, declaring it the winner.

It was the first time in the exhibition's history that the top prize was won by a married woman exhibitor.

Her husband, Pete, 23, squeezed through the crowd to her side in the big tanbark arena. They kissed one another and planted kisses on Honeymoon's head.

She said she bought Honeymoon for $100 while she and her husband were honeymooning near San Antonio, Tex., last February. She added that he was "one of the leftovers after others got first pick of the herd" being sold at the Stras-Medina Hereford Ranch at San Antonio.

"You always hope you'll pick a good one," she said. "But sometimes the one that looks like it's hardly worth feeding turns out to be the very best. I thought Honeymoon looked pretty good."

Sue said she alone picked Honeymoon from the auction herd.

The chunky hereford had been declared grand champion steer of the junior show Saturday. On Monday he emerged from breed judging as best summer yearling.

Winning the show's top prize will pour thousands of dollars into the pockets of the Secondinos after tomorrow's auction. Last year's winner brought more than $20,000.

The young couple said their first plan is to buy a farm of their own. They have been staying at the farm of Sue's father, Max Lenderman, Rt. 2, West Terre Haute, Ind.

Reserve grand champion honors went to Governor, an Aberdeen angus shown by Chuck Wood Jr., 16, of Spencer, Iowa. He said he and his younger brother, Greg, 8, both own and care for Governor. The 280-acre Wood farm has 150 breeding cattle.

Prohibitionists Are Defeated In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Prohibition forces who wanted to dry up the sale of 3.2 beer in Oklahoma through individual county option took a bad licking yesterday and indications mounted that a big push for legalized sale of liquor will develop in this constitutionally dry state.

In a surprisingly heavy turnout, Oklahomans voted by a margin of some 61,000 votes against the county option plan sponsored by dries. Oklahoma and Tulsa, the two largest counties, provided most of the margin to keep beer sold statewide.

Unofficial returns from 3,196 of the state's 3,220 precincts gave 213,264 votes for county option and 274,944 against. Opponents of option had cast about 56.5 per cent of the total vote.

It was a victory for the beer industry, which had campaigned heavily on issues of tax revenue and claims that county option would make law enforcement more difficult. The vote was a severe defeat for the United Dry Assn., which had forced the election with the active support of Gov. Raymond Gary, a personal drier.

Spokesmen for both wets and dries predicted the outcome will mean a drive for a repeal election before long. Oklahoma has had legal beer, up to 3.2 per cent, since 1933. However, the state has been constitutionally dry since it entered the union in 1907 with the last vote on liquor being held in 1949. Repeal was defeated by 55,000 votes in 1949.

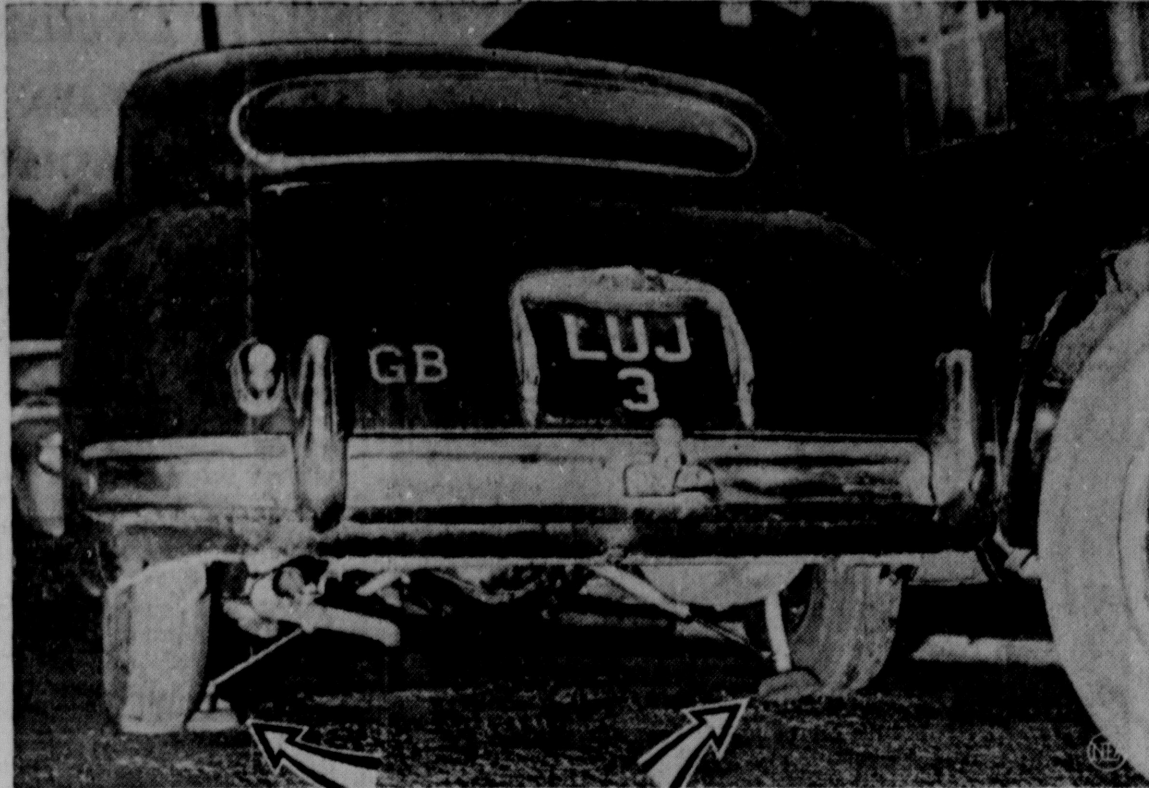

Overheated Stove Causes Fire; Mother, Seven Children Perish

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP)—Fire started by an overheated wood stove swept through a farmhouse near here and killed a pregnant mother and her seven children.

Sheriff Courtney Langston Jr. identified the dead woman as Mrs. J. L. Bowers, 37, wife of a Negro tenant on a farm at nearby Westor. The children ranged in age from 9 to 1.

The sheriff said Bowers had gone out hunting a few hours before the fire broke out.

The bodies were all in a bedroom. Langston said apparently CURB SERVICE — The problem of squeezing into tight parking spaces is made simple with a new device called the "Slider," invented by engine expert Archie Butterworth of Frimley Green, Surrey, England. To park a car equipped with the invention, the driver steers the front end into the curb. Powered by the car's transmission, the disks spin and move the car sideways into the parking space. Low gear swings the rear one way, and reverse the other.

States Public Knows Little About Rockets

NEW YORK (AP) — Just a few months before Sputnik 1 was launched, half the American people hadn't heard of the U.S. earth satellite program, the American Rocket Society heard today.

Social psychologist Donald N. Michael reported that a pre-Sputnik cross-section survey of Baltimore citizens indicated that five sixths of them didn't understand out satellite plans.

Even after the Sputniks were circling the globe, Michael said, 10 per cent of the freshmen and sophomores at one university said they didn't know the Russians had launched a satellite.

Michael made the statements in a talk prepared for a rocket society panel on the problem of getting public support for future rocket and space programs.

Space travel projects will be competing for public monies, he said, with such things as social security, city projects, highway building and airport construction.

In an aging population, he suggested, there was reason to doubt the inspirational value of space travel against that of old-age insurance. Yet, he said, public money will have to support both.

"My strong suspicion," he said "is that urban and suburban dwellers of the near future will be much less interested in putting a dozen men on the moon or Mars than they will be in voting a man into the Senate who will vote funds for their pressing needs."

The future, he said, should relate the need and the benefits of space travel to the average man's way of life.

Michael is senior research associate for Dunlap and Associates, Inc., a Stamford, Conn., statistical and survey firm.

Child Dies of Injuries In Wreck During Snow

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Seven month old Alan Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sharp of St. Louis, died last night from injuries he received in a car wreck during the area's first snowstorm.

He was riding in a car driven by his father, which collided with a car driven by Mrs. Johanna Bukovac, 39, of Granite City.

The accident was on Route Three near East St. Louis city limits.

Sharp, his wife, Patricia, 20, and a daughter, Constance, two, were held at St. Marys Hospital in East St. Louis for observation.

Mrs. Bukovac received fractured ribs and facial cuts and a passenger in her car, Wanda Bukovac 17, a niece, was hospitalized with a possible fractured pelvis and head cuts.

Advise Salk Booster Shot Be Obtained

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fourth "booster" shot of Salk polio vaccine next spring for all persons who have previously received the usual three shots was recommended today by a University of Pennsylvania doctor.

At the same time, Dr. Lewis L. Coriell urged all persons under 40 who haven't done so to complete the usual three shot course of "properly spaced" injections.

Such a system, he said, offers the possibility for "virtual elimination of paralytic poliomyelitis as a significant disease in 1958."

Coriell, associate professor of immunology in pediatrics at the university's School of Medicine, said in a report prepared for the 11th clinical session of the American Medical Assn.

"Three years of increasingly widespread use of . . . (Salk) polio vaccine have coincided with unprecedented reduction in reported cases of poliomyelitis. A particularly low incidence and low paralytic rate are the outstanding features of the 1957 season."

He said estimates suggest that protection against paralytic disease approached 90 per cent in patients who received "three or more" properly spaced injections of vaccine, and 75 to 80 per cent in those receiving less than three shots.

The doctor declared that in view of downward polio trends since the advent of the vaccine "it seems logical to predict that poliomyelitis will be reduced even more drastically in 1958 provided the vaccination program is continued, including a full course of

Teamsters Trial Is Delayed; No Jury

SEATTLE (AP) — Still without a jury and faced with a reluctant panel of veniremen, the trial of Teamsters Union President Dave Beck on grand larceny charges ground into its third day today with no immediate progress in sight.

Eleven prospective jurors had survived preliminary questioning yesterday and had been seated when the defense and prosecution started exercising peremptory challenges — the right to remove a prospective juror without giving cause. Each side has six such challenges.

Both sides used two challenges and the replacements one after another said: "I can't be impartial. I have preconceived impressions."

Beck is charged with pocketing $1,900 received in the sale of a union-owned automobile.

Kansas Citian Found Guilty of Murder

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Felix Hernandez, 47-year-old father of 10 children, was convicted last night of second degree murder by a Jackson Circuit Court jury which fixed his punishment at 15 years imprisonment.

Hernandez, who wept when the jury foreman announced the verdict, was found guilty of stabbing Henry E. Turner, 46, at a Kansas City tavern last Aug. 31.

Adlai Starts Ending Role As Consultant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson started slipping out of his role as Democratic consultant to the Eisenhower administration today.

The titular head of the Democratic party—loser to President Eisenhower in the 1952 and 1956 presidential elections—announced last night he had no desire to extend his consultations to the Dec. 16 Atlantic Pact (NATO) meeting in Paris.

He gave this reason: "If he went, he would be 'without authority.'"

Stevenson said he agreed with most of the Eisenhower proposals for revitalizing NATO, to be presented at Paris. But he acknowledged "differences between us." Without authority to make policies, he would be in the dilemma of having to support those with which he disagreed, or keeping silent through a patriotic desire not to upset the unity cart. In any case, he feared his friends at home and abroad would have been inhibited or misled.

All this was set forth in Stevenson's formal statement explaining why he turned down the Paris invitation which Eisenhower had extended less than 10 hours earlier.

The two met just before a briefing of Republican and Democratic congressional leaders on the plans for NATO and on other foreign and defense policy plans.

"The President could not have been more cordial," Stevenson later told a questioner.

del showed Hoffa and Brennan how to operate the wiretapping equipment in the Detroit office July 9, 1953.

Gelb asked the witness if he would change his testimony about seeing Hoffa in Detroit that day if he were told that Hoffa registered in a Seattle hotel July 5 and stayed until July 9.

"No," Doelick replied. "I know I saw Mr. Hoffa in his office the morning of July 9."

"If it came to your attention that he attended a banquet in Seattle the night of July 9, would that make any difference?"

"No."

"If he attended a union executive board meeting in Seattle that week, would you admit you made a mistake?"

"No, I won't retract my testimony," the witness replied.

Credentials Man Is Summoned For a Quizzing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man who played a major role in deciding which delegates could vote at the Teamsters Union's Miami Beach convention was called for quizzing in federal court today.

The witness, Joseph Konow of New York, served as secretary of the Credentials Committee at the convention which elected James R. Hoffa president.

Judge F. Dickinson Lettis is hearing without a jury a suit by 13 rank-and-file Teamster members from the New York area to avoid the election of Hoffa and the convention was rigged.

Stories of beatings, dynamitings and other violence came into testimony yesterday from Brownie Moore and Charles E. Stewart Jr., both of Teamsters Local 327, at Nashville, Tenn.

Moore testified he had the "heck knocked out me" because of his opposition to officers of the local headed by Dan Vestal. He said Vestal was installed as trustee by W. M. (Dusty) Miller, chairman of the Teamsters Southern Conference. Vestal subsequently was elected president of the local with the backing of international representatives, the witnesses testified.

Army Breaks Girard Down To a Private

CAMP DREW, Japan (U) — The U.S. Army today broke Specialist S.C. William S. Girard to buck private and indicated his Japanese manslaughter convictions might also mean an undesirable discharge for him.

The homebound GI took the news in stride and scrapped any plans he might have had for a military career after four years of Army service.

"I don't think I got a raw deal, and I'm getting out . . . I didn't think I had it coming, but it was legal," Girard said after the Army took its first punitive action against him for the Jan. 30 killing of a Japanese woman scrap scavenger.

The Army, which spent an estimated $90,000 on the controversial case, said Girard was demoted under regulations as a result of his conviction in a foreign court. The action cuts his pay from $232.40 a month to $173.90 for the 55 days remaining of his enlistment.

A second announcement said Girard will sail for San Francisco with his Japanese wife Friday, and Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker will determine the type of discharge he gets.

An Army spokesman said the three possible discharges for Girard are honorable, general or undesirable. He would not say what the recommendation to Brucker would be.

The Army said regulations call for a demotion when a soldier has been convicted by a foreign court and sentenced to more than six months. Officers said Girard probably would not be allowed to re-enlist for the same reason.

A Japanese court sentenced the Ottawa, Ill., soldier Nov. 19 to three years in prison but suspended the sentence.

Chief of Staff Of Air Force Commends CAP

"An ever increasing need," is the way Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Thomas D. White describes the requirement for young men and women in the field of aviation and its associated technologies.

General White dismissed this requirement in a note to Maj. Gen. Walter R. Agee, USAF, national commander of the Civil Air Patrol, congratulating the Air Force's civilian auxiliary on its 16th birthday.

"Our nation today," he said, "is faced with an ever increasing need for alert young men and women to take their places in the field of aviation. The Air Force looks to the youth aviation program of the Civil Air Patrol to help answer the demand for young men and women facing us today."

General Agee echoed General White's message emphasizing the fact that the Civil Air Patrol's youth aviation program is directed toward providing "man-power for air-power."

"It is important," General Agee explained, "that one understand our definition of air-power. To the Civil Air Patrol total air-power is private, commercial and military aviation each one indivisible from the other."

The cadets in the Sedalia Squadron are now in Phase Three, a training lesson on weather and navigation, and have just completed the booklet on airways and electronics. Each cadet is given a booklet to study at home and each week study two chapters in class. After completion, which takes six weeks, the cadets are given a test. Capt. Ray Anderson, commander of cadets, and Lt. Rhodella Kehl, cadet training officer, are in charge of cadet meetings. Eligible for cadets are both boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 21. The cadets in the local squadron meet each week at the Sedalia Memorial Airport and classes are held at the Little Red School House.

Socials are held several times during the year for the cadets. A Christmas party is being planned at the present time for the cadets. These are supervised at all times as well as the weekly meetings.

Health Consultant Advises Housewives To Scrub Floors

CALGARY, Alta. (U) — To housewives who aim at top physical condition: Get down and scrub the kitchen floor.

This advice comes from Dr. Doris Plewes, consultant for Canada's Health and Welfare Department, now on a tour testing physical fitness of Canadians.

"Some of the best exercises for women are done on the hands and knees and utilize floor scrubbing motions," she says.

Physical fitness is the basis of charm, Dr. Plewes stresses, and is important in everyone's life. "Take a mother," she says. "She is the shock absorber for the whole family. A physically fit woman will absorb all the problems and crises of the day and remain relatively calm and serene. One who doesn't keep fit will be tense and brittle-tempered although she may be mentally efficient. Her tenseness will transmit itself to the rest of the family."

Labor Council Ready to Vote On Expulsion

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (U) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council gathered today to recommend a formal expulsion of the Teamsters Union, which claims a tenth of the federation's 15 million members.

The council was acting on corruption charges developed in months of hearings before the Senate Rackets Committee.

It also was expected to vote expulsion recommendations for the Bakery, Laundry and Distillery Workers unions, similarly involved in charges of corruption.

The recommendations will go to the AFL-CIO convention convening here tomorrow.

Expulsion of the four unions, with about 1 1/2 million members, was mapped by AFL-CIO President George Meany as a demonstration that organized labor can deal effectively with racketeering in labor's ranks.

Meany and other AFL-CIO chiefs hoped it would help them stave off threatened punitive legislation from Congress and warn leaders of other unions against mulcting union funds.

The Teamsters, Bakers and Laundry Workers already are under AFL-CIO suspension and their expulsion was regarded as only a formality.

Meany and the AFL-CIO council have on a number of occasions said that for the Teamsters to avoid expulsion the union must oust James R. Hoffa, Teamsters president-elect; Dave Beck, the union's retiring president; and others named in Senate hearings.

The Distillery Workers Union is under AFL-CIO probation, but ousted leaders of the union recently took over their offices again and the union is expected to face renewed AFL-CIO ouster proceedings.

In another preliminary to the start of federation convention sessions, the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department planned to act today at its separate convention on resolutions calling for quelling the federation unless jurisdictional troubles are settled.

Senator Morse Urges President To Give Up Post

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Morse (D-Ore) urged today that President Eisenhower resign and let Vice President Nixon take over full responsibility for the Republican administration.

"It is painfully obvious that the President is not up to the tasks imposed by time and events," Morse, a frequent critic of Eisenhower and his administration, said in a statement sent to the Senate press gallery.

Morse pointed out that Eisenhower has been seriously ill several times and added: "It cannot be claimed that he now possesses the energy to discharge the awesome responsibility of the great office he occupies. Nor does it seem possible for him to delegate essential tasks to others."

Morse commented that "I have never been a great admirer of Vice President Nixon," and went on: "It is apparent that he (Nixon) will exercise increased power in the months and years ahead. That power will be greater than that of his office, yet less than his official responsibility."

Morse said that "in a democracy, authority and responsibility should go together."

"I therefore urge that the President resign and that, according to the Constitution, the vice president succeed to his office and powers."

City, and Wayne Ballance, Sedalia; three nieces; a nephew and other relatives.

He was preceded in death by his parents and three children.

The body was taken to the Alexander Funeral Chapel to await completion of funeral arrangements.

Movie, Play Albums Still Tops on List

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The play's the thing wherein the record companies hope to make the cash register ring.

Original cast albums of plays, good and bad, and original sound tracks of movies, good and bad, have developed into a major musical bonanza, with record companies in heated competition long before a show or movie opens.

The good ones, especially, have demonstrated amazing staying power on the best seller lists. Currently among the 15 top sellers are six play and movie albums, all of the long playing variety.

They include, in the order of popularity: "Around the World in 80 Days" (Decca), "My Fair Lady" (Columbia), "The Eddy Duchin Story" (Decca), "The King and I" (Capitol), "Oklahoma" (Capitol) and "The Pajama Game" (Columbia). Some have been around for two years or more.

Even the playwrights seem to be backing away with one eye on the footlights and the other on the record turntable. Time was when a producer would gamble on a mediocre play script in hopes of reaping some profit on the movie rights. Now he will make the same gamble in hopes of picking up a bundle on album sales.

When "Jamaica," the Lena Horne musical, came to Broadway this season, drama critic Walter Kerr of the Herald Tribune defined it as "the kind of musical that leads you to wonder whether it was produced simply because all concerned had such high, happy hopes for the original cast."

Kerr may have hit the clue. The fact that "Jamaica" opened to something less than mixed reviews has not deterred RCA Victor from proceeding with plans for an original cast album.

Columbia Records, a leader in the play and movie album field, has gambled in all directions on the current theater season. It recorded a smash hit in "West Side Story," the Arthur Laurents-Leonard Bernstein switch blade opera; a so-so attraction in "Simply Heavenly," the Langston Hughes Negro musical now moving to its third theater, and something of a flop in "Tevya and his Daughters," the off Broadway Sholom Aleichem play that failed to click.

Caedon Records has released Dylas Thomas' narration of "Under Milk Wood," but the Broadway version has folded.

The fact that a play has failed does not necessarily mean the record will be a flop.

Some companies, however, are beginning to wonder. Decca dropped plans for an original cast album of "Carefree Heart," which closed in Cleveland, and "Copper and Brass," the Nancy Walker musical that got to Broadway but didn't last.

The frenzy to make albums out of plays has even hit the import end of the industry. Angel Records a British firm, has a winner in "At the Drop of a Hat," an intimate two-man review composed and engagingly presented by Michael Flanders and Donald Swann. The delightful potpourri of patter songs, nonsense ditties and topical humor was recorded at London's Fortune Theater.

In a class by itself among all the play albums is RCA Victor's complete "Hamlet" with Sir John Gielgud and the Old Vic Company, a tremendous and long overdue addition to the spoken-word record field. The first and only complete recording of Shakespeare's masterful tragedy, it fills both sides of four long playing records and takes exactly 3 hours, 14 minutes and 22 seconds to play. Every second of it is worth the effort.

Touchy Item On Authority Has Arisen

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

ST. LOUIS — A touchy question throughout the history of the National Council of Churches—its authority in relation to member denominations—has come up at its General Assembly here.

The point was raised by the Rev. Dr. Truman B. Douglas, executive vice president of the Congregational Christian Churches. He said the separate denominations have yet to recognize the "real dimensions" of the Council.

They act as if they "are the master," and the Council is only "a slave," he said.

The National Council includes most of the major Protestant and Orthodox churches—300 denominations altogether—with a total of 37½ million members, nearly a fourth of the nation's population.

Noting there are now more than 5,000 interdenominational councils and federations, on local, state, national and world levels, Dr. Douglas told a special meeting yesterday that Christians need to recognize the "real dimensions and significance of these councils."

"From one viewpoint the councils are creatures of the denominations. But there is another important sense in which the councils are called to be judges of the denominations."

"We know that there is a Church of Christ which transcends all the churches. This true church is never perfectly embodied in any of our existing churches, nor will it ever be so long as we continue in our present divisions."

But the Council of Churches, to the extent it represents areas of Christian life in which the divisions have been overcome, "make manifest the true church in a way that their member communions are unable to do."

"To the extent that the councils do this, they also mediate judgment upon the denominations."

However, P. R. Douglas said, there is what he called a "denominational presupposition" in this country which holds that the individual denomination is the "proper object of ultimate loyalty."

This attitude, he said, has resulted in secondary chores and other drudgery being heaped on the councils, with the effect that their real significance is blurred.

Much of the general public, he said, "regards councils of churches as being mainly preoccupied with opposing bingo and part-mutuel betting on horse races."

These are worthy causes, he said, but with other "life-and-death problems" at stake, concentration on them makes the councils "symbols of religious and ethical triviality."

Special Session On Segregation In Texas Closes

AUSTIN, Tex. — The Texas Legislature went home yesterday after spending 21 days in special session passing three segregation bills.

Gov. Price Daniel, a Democrat, called the special session.

The first two bills, asked by the governor and passed last week, would close public schools when there are mob or riot threats, and would give the state attorney general $50,000 to help fight local integration suits in federal courts.

The final bill would allow county judges to require registration of organizations involved in school integration troubles. Backers of the bill openly said it was aimed at hamstringing the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. It would require such groups to list members, officers and affiliations.

The 13-12 Senate vote on the registration bill yesterday was typical of the close legislative debate on segregation. Possible delaying tactics by Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, a Democrat who has filibustered segregation bills three times in the various sessions, were beaten down by a 14-10 vote.

The school closing bill, probably the most controversial, allows the governor to close any school where it appears troops will be used to enforce racial integration orders or where there is the threat of mobs or riots.

Claims Christians Do Not Sacrifice

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The Rev. Dr. Donald Black of Philadelphia, head of the Foreign Missions Board of the United Presbyterian Church, says most American churches are so rich they remind him of the biblical injunction about the camel and the needle's eye.

Members don't sacrifice and give of their money as they should to help Christian missions, he told the National Council of Churches Assembly.

"Indeed, it is easier for the camel to pass through the needle's eye than for American churches, all wealthy by comparison with others, to enter the kingdom of obedience," he said.

GOP Says Ike Aims to Keep Even Budget

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower was described by Republican leaders today as making every effort to keep the budget in balance despite proposed sharp increases in military spending.

Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Saltonstall (R-Mass) said in separate interviews they believe Eisenhower will be able to avoid deficit spending.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he believes a two-billion-dollar boost in funds for missiles, strategic air bases, antissubmarine devices and outer space developments is justified by Russian advances in the missile and satellite field.

"I believe cuts can be made elsewhere in defense and other activities so that the overall budget will be no higher than this year's," he said. "I am sure President Eisenhower is making every effort to keep it within that framework."

This year's spending is estimated at 72 billion dollars, including about $38,400,000,000 for military purposes.

The proposed military increase for next year was reported after a five hour bipartisan White House meeting yesterday over which Eisenhower presided at intervals for a total of about 2½ hours.

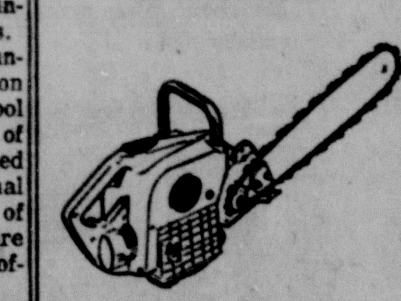

Saltonstall, who heads the Conference of All Republican Senators, said the Eisenhower administration is not being stampeded by Russian accomplishments but is "proceeding along lines of confidence in accelerating the defense program."

"I am sure President Eisenhower is doing everything he can to keep within a balanced budget," Saltonstall said.

Democratic leaders raised immediate doubts the Congress they control will be satisfied with a two-billion-dollar increase in missile and other spending. Several of them said the Eisenhower administration lacked the "sense of urgency" they thought it should have.

Mohammed V Slips Back To Disneyland

LOS ANGELES —Not even a locomotive can resist the land of make-believe.

Mohammed V made a formal visit to Disneyland yesterday, in native regalia and with full entourage.

He was so enchanted by what he saw that last night he slipped away from his hotel incognito and traveled 35 miles to visit the famous fantasy-land all over again, in the role of a commoner.

Some 22 members of the royal party went with him. But, like the king, they were in Western attire.

They paid their way in and went unnoticed for quite awhile. When Disneyland personnel learned they were there, the King asked that his party be permitted to go unattended, like any other visitors. The management complied. No reporters or photographers were there. The King would not permit Disneyland cameramen to photograph him, although he had posed graciously for scores of pictures during his official visit earlier in the day.

A spokesman said Mohammed came back because he had been "enchanted" by his first trip and because his brother Khalifa Moulay el Hassan had missed that visit.

They saw all the sights the king had seen during his earlier three-hour tour of the 21-million-dollar playground built by cartoonist Walt Disney.

Mohammed, on both visits, rode a locomotive and a river boat. He took an imaginary trip to the moon via the magic of motion pictures, darkness and sound effects. He explored the jungle and the Mississippi River.

Magazine Trial Will Begin Dec. 17

LOS ANGELES — Superior Court arguments on an obscenity charge against Confidential and Whisper magazines has been set for Dec. 17.

Conspiracy to commit criminal libel charges against the two magazines were dismissed Nov. 12, after a seven-week trial ended in a deadlocked jury. So were all charges against individuals.

Census Shows Large Population Increase

BRISTOL, Pa. —The population has increased somewhat in Bristol Township since the last census—nearly 500 per cent, in fact.

Township fathers arranged for a new count, knowing they could claim additional state highway fund benefits on increased population figures.

They found the township now has 56,293 residents—an increase of 44,109 over the 12,184 who lived there during the 1950 census.

An influx of industry and the new residential community of Levittown is responsible. The township is a few miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Snow Covers Area East of Mississippi

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm which dumped from 1 to 5 inches of snow across areas east of the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Coast appeared dying out today.

However, light snow continued during the early morning in Minnesota, the Ohio Valley, lower Great Lakes region and the Washington-New York City area.

The snow belt extended in a narrow belt across Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and metropolitan New York. Biggest falls included 5 inches at Columbus, Ohio; 4 at Bradford, Pa.; and 3 in many cities.

Both Marshall Teams Dump Tigers in Season's Opener

Smith-Cotton Meets Westport Saturday Night

The Smith-Cotton Tigers opened the 1957-58 basketball season in defeat Tuesday night, when the Marshall Ows came to town and took the big end of a 66-62 score. The Tiger "B" squad likewise fell as the "B" Ows took their game easily, 70-57.

The Ows "B" team took over a first period lead of 18-11 but were outscored in the second by the Tigers 16-14 for a halftime score of 32 for the Ows to the Tigers' 27. In the third period, the Ows tallied 21 to 16 and 17 to 12 in the final to win the contest.

Wertz scored ten goals and a free throw for 21 points, followed by Nichols with 6 and 8 for 20 points, while the high scorers for the Ows "B" squad were Rawlings with 6-5 for 17 points and Swinger 7-1 for 15 points.

In the varsity game, the Ows were consistent in scoring 14 points in each of the first, third and fourth quarters, with the big inning being the second, when they had a field day of 24 points. The Tigers scored 13 in the opener, and 16 in the second to trail at half time by a score of 38-29, while the third quarter saw them nosedive to 12 points and enjoy a big fourth stanza of 21 points.

Coch Howard Glavin's lone starter back from 1956, Don Middleton, hit the basket with 13 goals and five free throws for a total of 31 points, with Wahlers the next high with two and three for seven points.

Deal of the Ows had five and seven for 17 points followed by Hughes with 5-4 for 14.

Although the Tigers had 23 chances at free throws and made 14 good, they hit 100 per cent the difference would have made little change in the outcome if the Ows continued with their good percentage of collecting 22 good ones out of 34 chances.

Glavin put the test to 11 of his squad in this game, while the Ows used eight players.

Saturday night the Tigers will meet Westport High School of Kansas City on the local court.

S-H Alumni Bow to School Team 47-57

The Sacred Heart alumni bowed to the youngsters of the high school Tuesday night in both volleyball and basketball. The former girls' volleyball team couldn't keep up with the pace of the girls of today and dropped their game 11 to 46, while the ex-stars of Sacred Heart kept a little closer contact with the boys but dropped the basketball tilt 47-57.

In the volleyball game the high school team scored enough points in the first half, 24, to beat the alumni who collected but six and came back in the second half to add 22 more to the alumni's five.

R. Mergen was high for the girls with nine points with Rita Phifer next with seven, while C. Steffen was high for the alumni with three points. R. Sedlak, D. Pfeiffer and Jerik all scored two points each.

The high school boys moved out front hurriedly in the opening quarter 18 to 4 to gain a good lead and scored 16-10 in the second to hold a half-time lead of 34 to 14. In the last two quarters, the alumni out-scored the school team 17-13 and 16-11, but were still short 12 points from victory.

Ressel had a big evening getting seven goals and 16 free throws for a total of 30 points, followed by Menefee who had 4-1 for nine points. For the alumni, Bennett led the scoring with 4-4 for 12 and Hodges, a former All-State player, collected 5-1 for 11 points.

Green Ridge Has Double Win Tuesday

Green Ridge High School had a double victory Tuesday night, but both games were too close for comfort. The girls' volleyball team edged out Smithton 36-32, while the boys basketball game was a 48-47 point victory.

The games were Pettis Benton County Activity Association conference games. It gives Green Ridge a 7-2 record for the season's play.

The Green Ridge boys gained a good lead in the opening quarter of 16 to 5, which proved worthwhile as the game progressed. Smithton came back in the second period to score 16 to 9 for a closing in at the halftime, Green Ridge at the halfway point leading 25 to 22. In the third stanza, Green Ridge stood off Smithton 15-10, while the final quarter saw Smithton put on a rally of 18 to 8, just short a lone point for a tie and two short of victory.

On the Smithton side J. Monsees was high with one goal and nine free throws for 11 points, while Kahrs led the scoring with 5 and 2 for 12 points.

Lyles Bulwark Of the Little All-America

NEW YORK (AP) — A halfback, playing for a small college but so good he was chosen in the first round of the pro draft, is the bulwark of The Associated Press' annual Little All America announced today.

He is Leonard Lyles of Louisville, who led the nation's scorers with 132 points. His team won a berth in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., against Drake, because of his high-scoring exploits. The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League made him their first draft pick this week.

Ike Appears Busy Again After Stroke

WASHINGTON — For a convalescing man ordered to take it easy, President Eisenhower appears to be leading a pretty busy life nine days after his mild stroke.

But his recuperation progress "continues to be excellent," and so long as that is the case there will be no more medical bulletins on his condition, White House press secretary James C. Hagerly announced.

From the time Eisenhower was stricken Nov. 25 with a blockage of a branch artery to the brain there had been at least one bulletin daily and sometimes two or three.

In response to a question, Hagerly said the discontinuance does not mean the President is fully recovered. It simply means, he said, that there is no point in going ahead with issuance of bulletins saying without variation that Eisenhower still is getting along fine.

Yesterday, eight days after the onset of his illness, Eisenhower put in 7½ hours at the White House. It was the kind of day that varied in no outward way from many others he had spent there before this latest illness.

This is the way it went: Eisenhower turned up in his office at 8:15 a.m. He worked there for about 45 minutes, got in during that period a brief conference with Adlai Stevenson, then went to the nearby Cabinet room to preside at a briefing of congressional leaders of both parties of national defense and foreign policy problems.

He stayed on at that conference for 90 minutes, went back to his office for about an hour, then returned to the meeting. He was at the session a total of 2½ hours. Then he knocked off 90 minutes for lunch and the midday rest his doctors prescribed after his 1955 heart attack. He was back in his office by 2:30 p.m. and he didn't call it a day until about 5:15 p.m.

During the afternoon he conferred with his new scientific adviser, Dr. James R. Killian Jr., dictated letters to Ann Whitman, his personal secretary, conferred for 45 minutes with Vice President Nixon, then worked for a while on miscellaneous matters.

All that was against the background of the announcement by the President's doctors Nov. 26 that his illness would require several weeks of rest and "substantially decreased activity."

Hagerly replied "No" when asked whether the doctors had changed their minds about that prescription and may have indicated they now feel Eisenhower's illness was not as serious as they first thought.

The press secretary said in reply to another question that the doctors are aware of the kind of activity Eisenhower plans each day. They approved his schedule, he said.

Asked then how the President looked and felt when he finally called it quits late yesterday, Hagerly said: "He looked perfectly natural and was quite chipper."

The press secretary announced Eisenhower plans to spend another long and restful weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Roosevelt Receives Letters of Advice

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) says he has received about 2,000 letters giving advice since he mentioned last week an offer by an Arab shiek to marry his mother, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The shiek now has 39 wives.

"Some said if I couldn't get her married off to that shiek to try another," Roosevelt said.

"Others asked why I should want to break it up — that if it was true love it should blossom. 'Still others, from women, said that if she turned him down, they would be ready to go in her place.'"

Negro Boy Rescues Eight From Fire

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Ernest Pool, an 8-year-old Negro boy, was in the kitchen of his ramshackle home yesterday washing the dishes and minding eight of his brothers, sisters and cousins.

Ernest's mother and aunt were about half a mile away picking cotton.

Suddenly the tin pipe extending from the wood stove fell to the floor and fire destroyed the shack.

Beyond the ruins stood nine Negro children, ages 13 months to 8 years, unharmed. Ernest had saved everybody.

"I just grabbed them and threw them out," he said.

Russell Builds Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) sought today to build opposition to the administration's new $3,940,000,000 foreign aid program even before its formal presentation to Congress.

Shortly after the program was outlined to congressional leaders at a White House conference, Russell called for diverting the bulk of the proposed spending to buying more military missiles.

But Rep. Albert (Okla.) House Democratic whip, predicted Congress would approve most of the amount requested, though economic aid "might be cut some."

The administration's proposal to extend the reciprocal trade agreement program for another five years drew fire too. Many in both houses claimed it would be lucky to get a one-year renewal.

The authority of the President to cut tariffs on a reciprocal basis now is due to expire June 30.

The opposition to both measures was noted in the face of advice from Secretary of State Dulles against concentrating so much attention on a military buildup that the "political, economic, psychological warfare" with which Russia seeks to extend its power is forgotten in the excitement created by the Russian Sputnik.

Russell, chairman of the Senate

Armed Services Committee, said the proposed foreign aid program could be "reduced substantially."

He told an interviewer, "The whole free world would be in a better position, and much stronger, if we financed the missile program out of the foreign aid funds."

But Albert's support of the program was echoed by Rep. Morgan (D-Pa.), top Democrat present from the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"I think that the members were impressed with the danger we are in from some of our enemies and the conference was very successful."

Contest Will Cause Postman 13,736 Trips to Winner
NEW YORK — (NEA) If the US postmen ever inquire into this new "Share of America Contest" ... well, there's just no telling what will happen.
Obviously, the contest is dazzling and the prize handsome. He who wins takes home one share of every common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange as of last May 31 — or its equivalent ($42,000) invested in his taste.
But beneath the surface, according to appalled sources on Wall Street, are unlooked for consequences to the mail courier whose appointed rounds include the prize winner.
As of last May 31, the facts reveal, there were 1,090 common stocks on the Exchange. And

News Picture Of Business Year Clears

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—With 1957 entering the last lap of the business race today, the news picture of the year becomes clearer. Barring a late starting dark horse, here are the top 10 business news stories of the year—just one man's opinion.

1. Stock market didos. Not so much because the significance of the market's many ups and downs as because they have dramatized—not always rightly—the other big stories of 1957. From a peak in July stock prices skidded to a low in October and have mostly see-sawed since.

2. The long boom ends. The biggest climb in American history faltered early in the year, first leveling off and then by summer definitely taking a breather.

3. The cost of living. Inflation ruled the first nine months. In October there was a breather here too, but still higher prices were feared before 1957 fades.

4. The President's health. The market reacted quickly—first, down when he suffered a slight stroke; up, when he recovered quickly.

5. Sputnik. The effect of the Russian satellite on business, aside from the psychological, was the boost that increased defense spending later on may give the economy. The question—Will it help or cause a recession ahead?

6. Tight money. Businessmen, especially the smaller ones, complained that expansion plans were hamstrung. Home builders were particularly critical of the Federal Reserve system's tight reins. The system has reversed itself and all 12 Federal Reserve banks are lending to member banks at 3 per cent instead of 3½.

7. Unemployment. Rising a little in the fall, it ends the year still increasing and with more jobless expected before spring.

8. Profits. Although still over all a bit higher than in 1955, corporate profits have been slowing down in their upward pace.

9. Construction. The record business expansion boom has bolstered the economy all year, but industry was pulling in its horns toward the end and planning less for next year. Home building, on the other hand, has trailed this year but shows signs of picking up in 1958.

10. Metals. Prices of steel and aluminum rose. Prices of most other metals fell sharply. Output of steel slipped well below capacity, and the nonferrous metals also felt the drop in demand. Foreign competition was a big news story during the year and growing as 1957 draws to an end.

Repeat At Leisure

CINCINNATI (AP)—It's a woman's privilege to change her mind and a suburban Clifton woman has apparently decided to take full advantage of it.

Mrs. Marion Blankmeyer, 31, has applied for a license to remarry her second husband after being twice divorced from her first mate. She first married Clem Blankmeyer, then divorced him to marry Charles Mason. She then divorced Mason to remarry Blankmeyer, then divorced Blankmeyer a second time and now plans to remarry Mason.

STUDY RUSSIAN—The government reports that four out of 10 school children in the Soviet Union are studying English, raising the obvious question, "Where does the U.S. stand?" At least 26 children in Ohio are being introduced to the Russian language. Here, Johanne McGinnis and Chris Schroeder, fourth graders at Kent University School, go over the pronunciation of some Russian words with their instructor, Dr. Joseph Suhadolc. The two children are among a group of 26 fourth, fifth and sixth graders studying Russian as an experiment begun in October at the University School. The course is the only one of its kind involving Ohio grade school children.

Reverse Court Rule To Imprison Editor

BANGKOK (AP)—The Bangkok Court of Appeals today reversed a lower court decision to imprison newspaper editor Kukrit Pramot for a month but upheld a fine of $25 given him for making a "disparaging" statement about U.S. Ambassador Max Waldo Bishop. Kukrit, Oxford-educated editor of the Siam Rath Daily, recently referred to Bishop in an editorial as "An American hooligan." The Court of Appeals said the remark was not libelous, "only impolite and disparaging."

Missionary Plans Talk at Open Bible Church

The Open Bible Church, 701 East Fifth, will be host Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 7:45 p.m. to the Rev. Grant H. Moore recently returned from French Guinea, West Africa. The Rev. Mr. Moore is a graduate (Class of '43) of the Open Bible Institute of Des Moines, Ia., and of Seattle Pacific College (1950). The next two years he served as registrar and faculty member of the Open Bible Institute.

In 1952 the Grant Moore family was appointed by the Open Bible Standard Churches, Inc., as missionaries to open a mission station in French Africa. This area had no missionary from any denomination. This mission is responsible for the evangelization of one million people belonging to 12 main tribes.

After learning the French language and while studying a native dialect at headquarters for the mission was established in the city of Kindia. From this center new missionaries will go out to the various tribes.

The public is cordially invited to hear the thrilling story illustrated with colored slides of the opening of the missionary endeavor in this primitive area.

Sedalia Firm Finishes Relocation Project In Callaway County

JEFFERSON, CITY (AP)—The last 7.2 miles of new pavement on Interstate Route 44 (U. S. 66) between Lebanon and Conway was opened to traffic at 10 a.m. today.

The stretch is part of an 11 mile section of new highway extending from the west end of the Lebanon bypass. Completion of the final gap will open dual pavement entirely across Laclede County.

Koss Construction Co. of Des Moines built the road at a cost of more than three million dollars. The State Highway Commission also announced that a 4.9 mile relocation of U. S. 54 in Callaway County will be opened to traffic Thursday at 8 a.m. The project included grading, building a new bridge over the M-K-T Railroad tracks north of Jefferson City and laying a 24-foot concrete pavement.

W. J. Menefee of Sedalia was the contractor and the work cost about $1,119,896.

Post No 16, Auxiliary Yule Party

The Pettis County Post No. 1, American Legion, and the Legion Auxiliary enjoyed their annual Christmas party at the Legion Hall, 114½ East Fifth, Monday evening. A turkey dinner was served preceding the regular meetings of the two groups, after which a joint meeting was held in the Auxiliary room.

Following the regular meetings when the two organizations met together, they heard a talk on "Rehabilitation" given by Mrs. Ena L. Killingsworth, child welfare worker of the Pettis County Welfare Office, which is a division of the State Division of Welfare.

Mrs. Killingsworth spoke on her work in the rehabilitation of children in and from broken homes, and pointed out several examples of where their work has been most successful. She described her work with unstable children in becoming rehabilitated. She also told of the work of the Welfare Department with the veterans organizations, helping families of men who are in hospital and are in need of hospitalization.

During this gathering, the visitors and members were entertained by the Rainbow Ramblers with music and songs and the audience joining in to sing Christmas carols. Mrs. Killingsworth was introduced by Mrs. W. C. Cain, auxiliary president, who also introduced Mrs. William H. Peel, Odessa, the Seventh District Auxiliary president, who gave a short talk.

At the meeting of the Legion Post, a discussion on the Crippled Children's Center was held, after which the Legion voted to contribute funds to the Center.

The Legion wrestling committee is planning on a big show for Wednesday night, Jan. 1, 1958. All money left after the costs of the show are paid will be turned over to the Center.

Guests at the dinner and meetings were five officers of the District Seven of the Legion, Commander Frank Piper, Sedalia, Vice Commander Bob Neef, Higginsville, Junior Vice Commander William H. Peel, Odessa, District Adjutant Charles M. Scruton, and Sergeant-at-Arms Fred Rose, both of Sedalia; and the Auxiliary president, Mrs. William H. Peel.

TO RETIRE—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, now 70 years old, has announced his intention to retire next year as deputy Allied commander in Europe. He's the last top Allied commander of World War II on active duty.

Bow Hunters Kill Record Of 54 Deer

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Bow and arrow hunters killed a record number of at least 54 deer during their 61-day season, the State Conservation Commission reported today.

The season opened Oct. 1 closed Saturday night. The commission said a few additional kills may be reported later as stragglers send in their deer tags.

Last year, in a one-month season, archers bagged 33 deer. This year in October the comparable kill was 40.

Twenty counties reported kills and the biggest was a 290-pound buck downed by William A. Berg of Washington, Mo., in Warren County Oct. 13.

Johnson county had seven to top the number of kills. Ste. Genevieve and Pulaski County six each, Franklin County five and Newton County four. Others were widely distributed.

The commission said it would be impossible to tell how many bow hunters were in the woods until final reports of deer tag sales are in but each year interest in the ancient sport has increased.

For the fourth straight year, Tony Mueller of Ste. Genevieve bagged a deer with his bow and arrow, this time a 10-point, 190-pound buck downed on a running shot. Mueller's feat is believed to be a record for modern Missouri hunters to shoot at.

Three out of state archers got deer, including a husband and wife team who live near Galena, Kan. On Oct. 2, Mrs. Dorothy Ganstine got a doe in Barry County and three does to the day after that her husband, F. C. Ganstine, downed a buck in the same county.

US Military Police Clamp Watch Around Reds in Retaliation

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—U.S. military police have clamped an around-the-clock watch on the Russian military mission here in retaliation for Soviet harassment of a U.S. team in East Germany, Army sources said today.

Four olive-green U.S. Army sedans took up watch outside the high wire fence surrounding the Russian mission yesterday. The sedans have orders to follow any Russian vehicle leaving the compound.

U.S. Army sources said the measure was introduced because of repeated harassment of a U.S. military team at Potsdam in Communist East Germany.

Both the U.S. and the Russian missions date back to the four-power agreements. Both teams are supposed to have free movement.

The 24 Russian officers of the mission, their wives and children live in eight houses in a small fenced-in park on the outskirts of Frankfurt.

The U.S. Military Police sedans took up positions opposite the driveways.

Each sedan carries two soldiers and a man in civilian clothes, presumably a U.S. agent.

Army sources said the Soviets recently have not only followed the U.S. team in East Germany, but have put certain areas on a restricted list.

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg declined to comment on the Frankfurt action.

you, eh? You think I can't buy you the chopped sirloin you're accustomed to?"

"It's not that, Rover," Mimi wept. "I'd share my last bone with you. I'd rob trash cans with you. But—"

"I see it all now," said the male dog darkly. "It's because I'm a beagle, isn't it? You think of me as an inferior, just because you won that silly best-of-show ribbon!"

"No, no!" Mimi's protests rose to an hysterical yelp. "I have nothing against you at all, Rover. If I were to marry anyone—but I can't, you see. Not ever. Not while—" a delicate blush undercoated her powder-gray muzzle.

Then she confessed: "It's the puppies I'm thinking of, Rover. Do you think dogs have any right to bring puppies into a world like this? When they might be packed in a Sputnik and shot out into space at any moment?"

Rover—half-way out the door at the mention of puppies—whirled on his heel, which is no mean trick for a beagle.

"Why, you silly goose," he laughed. "What a thing to be afraid of. One dog in all this world has been Sputniked. The chances that one of ours might be—it's simply fantastic."

"These are fantastic times," Mimi reminded him. "Who knows how many Sputniks there may be? Who knows how many dogs can be put in a Sputnik? I—I'm sorry, Rover. I just can't take the chance."

Rover licked his lips meditatively. "All right, suppose it happened," he said. "Suppose one of our pups was the first dog to reach the moon. Wouldn't you be proud?"

"I'd be scared to death," said Mimi, weeping again.

"Dogs on the moon," Rover mused. "We could run the place to suit ourselves. We'd have it all organized by the time people got there. We'd make them our slaves. I can hear us now. 'Here, human, roll over, human. Jump through this hoop, human.'"

"And we'd give them silly names," chimed in Mimi excitedly, pawing away her tears. "Names like Mimi and Rover—"

"We'd feed them our table scraps!"

"We'd hire people-catchers to put them in concentration camps if they didn't have people-tags on their collars!"

"They've led us a dog's life—we'd make them lead a people's life!"

Rapidly, Mimi and Rover gazed upon each other.

"Name the day," growled Rover softly. "You and I may not see this bright tomorrow. But our puppies, and our puppies' puppies..."

From outside the kennel a human voice ruptured their moment.

"Come here, you rascals! Heel, you villains! Out of there, you fleabags! Time for your walk!"

"Yes—oh, yes, Rover," whispered Mimi before they scampered to obedience. "I'll marry you. The future belongs to us!"

Two Chimps On Spree

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two chimpanzees escaped from a commercial exhibit while their cage was being cleaned. Tourists scattered before them and two employees who tried to catch them were bitten.

Before they were cornered, a 50-pound 5-year-old named Bongo invaded a snack bar and began tossing glasses around.

Maggie, a 15-year-old 75-pounder, was trapped in a tool shed where a spiked soft drink was passed in to her. Bongo was subdued with the help of a woman employee who soothed him with a candy bar.

Holder of American Record For Rocket Flight in Cage

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—The holder of the American record for rocket flight—a 25-pound monkey—sat in a cage today munching on a carrot—apparently unconcerned by all the publicity given to the dog that flew in the Russian Sputnik II.

He's a male monkey named "Stratosphere" who has been on exhibit at the Smithsonian's national zoo here since Nov. 5, 1953. That was more than a year after he and another monkey and two mice were shot some 36 miles into the upper atmosphere in an Air Force Aerobee rocket.

As far as Air Force people know, that historic flight marked the highest any living creature had ever been shot aloft up to that time. No animals have been sent that high by American scientists since that time.

The Russians claim they had sent dogs to heights up to 130 miles in rockets and retrieved them via parachute before they launched a dog in Sputnik II to heights up to more than 1,000 miles. That pooch, however, died after awhile, although meanwhile he made lots of trips around the world.

Stratosphere, who also is called Mike, is rated by zoo officials as a perfectly healthy monkey despite his experience more than five years ago when he:

Tells Possibility Of Another Wave Of Asian Flu

ST. LOUIS (AP)—J. Stewart Hunter, assistant to the U.S. surgeon general, said today there have been "millions of cases" of Asian flu in this country and the possibility of a second wave of cases exists.

Hunter said in an interview it is possible the second wave could be more serious than the first.

The U.S. Public Health Service advocates continuation of Asian flu vaccination programs, Hunter said, although the number of cases has declined over the nation in the last few weeks.

Hunter is in St. Louis for a joint district meeting of the American College Public Relations Assn. and the American Alumni Council.

Hunter said more than 30 million persons have received the flu vac-

1,009 miles an hour; (2) was subjected to gravitational forces almost 15 times normal for his weight for about one second at take off and to forces of three to four G's for about 45 seconds; (3) experienced the "weightless" state of "zero gravity" for a minute or so; and (4) was parachuted to earth in the nose of the rocket.

Says Dr. Theodore Reed, acting director of the zoo: "There has been no evidence of any ill effects of the flight that we here at the zoo have been able to observe. He has just led a perfectly normal monkey life."

Shortly after the flight was made from Holloman Air Force Base at Alamogordo, N. M., in 1952, the Air Force announced that neither the monkeys nor the mice had experienced any unusual effects from the experience.

A spokesman for the aeromedical laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, told a reporter in a telephone interview that since then periodic checkups were made by Air Force scientists over the years on the two monkeys, "and they were found to be physiologically and psychologically okay."

Both monkeys were originally "retired" to the Smithsonian zoo, but one of them died there a couple years ago from a cause "bearing no relation to the flight," according to an Air Force doctor.

The animal rocket experiments, together with some human observations in aircraft, the Air Force said at the time, allow the conclusion that "the weightless state, as it is likely to be encountered for brief one-to-two-minute periods in contemporary rocket and jet aircraft, will not seriously interfere with proper performance of a pilot's duties."

Thus, Stratosphere still is a scientific big-shot even though he didn't get as high in the world as the pooch did in Sputnik II.

cine since it became available late in September.

He recalled that the disastrous flu epidemic of 1918-19, which killed 800,000 persons in the United States, seemed mild at first, but wave returned with a second and third. That is not considered likely at this time, he said, but "you have to be prepared."

Joe Rowe Gets Straight A's Although He Types With Toes

DALLAS (AP)—If you went over 10-year-old Joe Rowe's school records you'd notice he got a straight A average last semester and was going so well he skipped the fifth grade and went into the sixth this year.

About the only thing unusual you'd notice is that he types his homework with his toes.

He has to. His arms are paralyzed by polio and although he can also write and paint with his toes, he prefers to use a type-writer.

Joe, who hasn't walked in five years, spends his nights in an iron lung. By day he attends school by telephone, watches television, paints and runs his electric train.

After polio hit, a tutor and his mother helped him through the early grades. At the time, he lived in San Antonio and a telephone hookup to school was arranged for some classes.

When he moved here, it became a regular thing for him to attend Dan D. Rogers school by telephone.

A small sound box is set up in the schoolroom and another in Joe's room. Teachers, standing near the box, conduct classes as usual. At times they fire questions into the box and they are relayed by a special telephone wire to Joe. Joe answers back on the wire.

His teachers, Mrs. Sarah Childress and Mrs. Mary Pool, say he is one of the sixth-graders who got straight A's last semester.

His parents try to give him as many outside activities as possible. Last summer his father Sidney Rowe took him fishing.

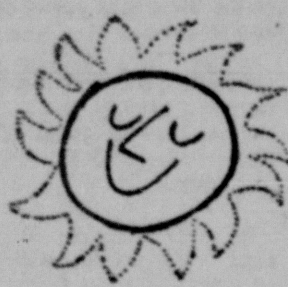

"I got one hooked and couldn't bring him in," Joe reports, "so I turned the rod over to dad. He let the fish get away."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

What Caused Big Change In Sinatra?

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What brought about the change in Frank Sinatra?

His switch from washed-up crooner to one-man industry is one of Hollywood's favorite stories. But how he managed it is somewhat of a mystery.

During a bull session on the set of "Kings Go Forth," he gave some insight on the answer. His rejuvenation appears to be due in large part to psychiatry, success and common sense.

"For the first time in my life, I'm organized," he observed. "I had to learn the hard way, but now I know that I can only do one thing at a time. Oh, when I think of the energy I wasted 10 years ago trying to do everything at once and getting nothing done really well!"

"Now I know what I'm doing. All of today, I'll devote my time to this picture, giving it all my concentration. Then I'll go have dinner and go to a recording session from 9 to midnight at Capitol Records. In the time I'm going there, I'll adjust my thinking to the making of records."

Thus he devotes himself to his many enterprises one at a time, without getting frantic about any of them. He isn't sure how he arrived at such a philosophy, but he admitted that he once sought help from psychiatry.

"I was under analysis for six months once," he said. "The reason was that I had a couple of specific problems I had to work out. I got them off my chest and that was that."

Frank conceded that success had a lot to do with ironing out

It takes a GIANT to feed a family of 170,500,000

Getting food to 170,500,000 people in over 49,500,000 U.S. households is a job of giant proportions. Yet the country's 401,000 grocery retailers, large and small, do it every day... and do it so effectively and in such volume, that we are the best fed people on earth.

Your local food store operator's never-ending search for new and better ways to fill your market basket is one reason why you enjoy the best, the freshest food possible at the lowest possible price.

It's also the reason why grocery retailers spend more money in newspapers than in any other advertising medium... well over $162,000,000 in 1956. They have found that the daily newspaper is the most effective and efficient way to keep you constantly informed of products and prices.

To satisfy a hunger for news of people, places and products, people buy over 58,000,000 brand new, freshly made copies of the daily newspaper every day. Because the newspaper is the natural, logical place for America to shop, it's the natural, logical place to advertise.

If you have anything to sell, make sure it's seen. More people will see it in the newspaper than anywhere else.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

Keep Your Temper Tied

Judging from the enthusiasm of thousands of persons who have begun shopping expeditions of Sedalia's stores in preparation for Christmas, there are not very many Gloomy Gusses among them.

People may be aware of rumblings on the international scene but their confidence in the future is not effaced by such a pessimistic review as the following:

"It is a gloomy moment in history. In France the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty. Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud, dark and and silent, upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China. . . . It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference in the issue of events."

Anyway that foreboding announcement, despite its similarity to the present, was published in Harper's Weekly in 1857. Our forebears then, too, on the brink of a Civil War, had cause to be jittery.

W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of Cities Service, reminds us that 100 years after the above item was penned, France continues to have its political and economic crises. Russia has become a cloud over not only the horizon of Europe, but over the whole world. Great Britain continues to cope with troubles elsewhere . . . and the "disturbed relations" with China have expanded beyond British interest to encompass the concern if the entire world.

"A futile century?" Mr. Jones asks. Pessimists might say so on the basis of these international circumstances. There is, however, another segment of this century-old article which relates to domestic affairs:

"In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it."

Our home-front 100 years later is not anywhere near that calamity. There is assurance for continued work for those who are capable and diligent enough to seek it.

As Mr. Jones points out, the pay will be the best in history, and the work will require fewer hours and less effort. The comforts and conveniences this pay can buy will be unequalled in any other nation on earth.

Free men and women today are shopping for what they want to buy in a nation which has the greatest power for progress. Living and working together for peace will sustain us, but not without morality and ethics in our social and business relationships with one another.

Domestic discord is born of petty impoliteness, superiority complexes and disrespect for the rights of others whether in seeking a parking space or showing forward in a shopping line.

There will be less incompatibility on the international and national levels when tempers are restrained at the grass roots.

There is no better time to practice charity and humility than this season of the year right here in Sedalia on Ohio avenue and Main street. It can begin with courteous attitudes toward the store clerks and their comparable attitude toward the shoppers.

Everybody Helps Dodgers Move to L. A.

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES — Baseball fans in Brooklyn plus taxpayers in other parts of the USA aren't going to like it when they learn the real story of how the Brooklyn Dodgers were inveigled out to Los Angeles.

The story involves a city councilman's strong-arm box and secret checking accounts containing $57,570 together with a $4,720,000 gift to Los Angeles by Uncle Sam for the land on which the Dodgers will build their ball park. In other words, the taxpayers of Brooklyn as well as the rest of the USA are helping to pay for transferring the Dodgers to Los Angeles.

But perhaps most shocking of all is the fact that 3,300 ill-housed families in Los Angeles were kicked out of their homes by condemnation on the excuse of putting up a new modern, public housing project. Instead their land is now being turned over to the Dodgers.

Furthermore it is being turned over under a contract by which Walter O'Malley, the Dodgers' owner, gets the parking rights, the concession rights, and even half the oil rights. Oil has already been discovered all around this area. In addition O'Malley will control and operate the parks, playgrounds and junior ball diamonds in the entire area turned over to him by the city of Los Angeles thanks to the $4,720,000 bonanza handed Los Angeles by other federal taxpayers.

In San Francisco, Mayor George Christopher retained parking rights and concessions in San Francisco's contract with the New York Giants, but not Mayor Norris Poulson of L. A.

Shacks and Swimming Pools
The story of this amazing baseball deal goes back half a dozen years when public housing officials in the sprawling-out city of Los Angeles were trying to clean up the Negro shacks and Mexican tenements that contrast with the flower-bedecked swimming pools of motion picture stars. Under the Taft Housing Act, Mayor Fletcher Bowron and the City Council signed a contract with the Federal government to build a housing project and make L. A. look more like the city of the Angeles.

In unkept, crowded Chavez Ravine, land was condemned, families ousted. Suddenly City Councilman Ed Davenport switched his vote. This, together with another wavering councilman, turned a bare majority of the City Council over to the side of the real estate interests which had been trying desperately to stop public housing.

Later City Councilman Davenport died. In his safe deposit box was found $30,000 in crisp, clean cash. In three checking accounts was found $27,570. The total, $57,570, was more than the $7500 annual salary he had drawn from the City Council in his eight years in office. Davenport had lived at the swank Park Wilshire Apartment house into which he moved shortly after taking office, yet after drawing a salary of $57,000 he had $57,500 left.

Later his wife made a formal statement all but admitting the money had come from the real estate lobby. The $57,570, she informed internal revenue, was "gifts of money" to her husband. Since you can't give gifts of money legally to a city official, these were bribes.

Los Angeles internal revenue agents started a thorough investigation with a view to finding out who paid the bribes. They were called off by higher-ups in the Eisenhower administration.

Reversed By Referendum
Meanwhile friends of the realtors plus a referendum had reversed Mayor Bowron on public housing. Bowron, himself, a Liberal Republican, was defeated by Congressman Norris Poulson, a conservative Republican who had voted in Congress with the real estate lobby.

The Chavez Ravine housing project was dead. Several thousand people had been moved out, their shacks and tenements torn down. The real estate lobby had won. However, the city of Los Angeles owed federal taxpayers about $6,000,000, and to get Mayor Poulson off the hook for this amount, Vice President Nixon and Senator William Knowland, both potent on Capitol Hill, discreetly helped put a rider in the 1954 housing bill permitting Los Angeles to unload the abortive Chavez Ravine housing project on Uncle Sam for the knockdown price of $1,279,000. This was $4,720,000 less than the government had advanced Los Angeles.

In other words, all the taxpayers paid Los Angeles for the cost of throwing Negroes and Mexicans out of their homes, tearing down their tenements and buying the land which now stands empty. Total cost was $4,720,000.

The rider was sneaked through the Senate when pro-public housing senators were away attending the funeral of a great pro-housing Republican, Senator Charles Tobey of New Hampshire. Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts helped Knowland and Nixon put it across.

Thanks to this bonanza, given to no other city in the USA, Mayor Poulson was able to offer this empty tract of land to the Brooklyn Dodgers at no cost to him. The other taxpayers had already paid for it.

However, the families who were dispossessed of their homes are not happy. Nor are about a thousand other families who must also be forced to move if the Dodgers get all the 330 acres promised them. Getting them to move will be more difficult, because under California law you can't condemn a man's home to build a ball park. Mayor Poulson also faces a referendum next spring before the Dodgers finally acquire the choice, free land once cleared to make Los Angeles look more like the city of the Angeles.

The name "cantaloupe" came from the castle of Cantaloupe, in Italy, where they first were grown in Europe.

Presents ABC on Sharing A-Arms Secret

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on the American dilemma about sharing atomic weapons secrets with allies.

It began in 1946 when this country had a monopoly on atomic development and Congress hoped to keep it that way as long as possible.

Congress passed the Atomic Energy Act, which since then has tied the President's hands in sharing atomic weapons information. In all fields except the atomic he is free to decide what information should or shouldn't be shared.

But this country no longer has a monopoly on atomic information. And much, perhaps most, that was secret in 1946 is no longer a secret either from the Russians or from some American allies, especially the British.

Because of the U.S. Atomic Energy Act, the British had to start from scratch in making their weapons. Like the Russians, they eventually made them.

Because they were shut off from American information, they had to duplicate what was already known or done here.

Thus years of brains, energy and money were lost. If the two countries had been sharing, the West now might be far ahead of the Russians.

The Allied nations surpass the Soviets in combined brains and resources. The amazing Soviet progress is beginning to force this realization on us.

If the West hopes to get ahead, or stay ahead, of the Russians in atomic weapons it will need all the brains and energy it can muster.

It can do so only by sharing far more than this country has revealed to its friends yet.

For this reason the Eisenhower administration is asking Congress to soften the Atomic Energy Act's restrictions and give the President more freedom in deciding what is all right for the Allies to know.

This is an example of the mixed-up rules laid down in the Atomic Energy Act for the President to do or not to do in sharing information with allies:

1. He can turn over classified information — classified ranges from top secret to merely confidential — on the peaceful uses of atomic energy, provided the allies agree to keep it classified.

2. He cannot divulge to the allies any information about the design or the making of atomic weapons. He can reveal some information on those weapons, such as size, weight and effect, but not if it is believed such information might reveal anything about design or manufacture.

3. He cannot turn over atomic weapons to the allies. For instance, hydrogen bombs would have to be kept at American bases. They must be in American custody.

Yet, it's quite possible French or British troops and airmen could be instructed in using them, provided American officers were present and therefore in possession of the weapons.

4. He can turn over to the allies atomic materials which could be used for military purposes but only if they agree to put them to nonmilitary use.

Democrat Pick-ups

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

Just before the dial telephone system went into effect an article appeared in The Democrat-Capital on how to use the dial phones. The family was sitting around the living room after a big Thanksgiving dinner and one of the men began reading the article out loud: "Dial the new two-letter five-figure 'Taylor 6' and 'Taylor 7' number after the conversation is made."

Everybody looked a little puzzled. "After the conversation is made" — that just didn't make sense.

It took the man's 10-year-old granddaughter, who had previously read the article to catch it, though. Seeing the bewildered expression on her father's face, she whispered to him, "It's after the conversation is made — not conversation."

Roadblocks to Knowledge

Rule of Secrecy Impedes Scientists Free Action

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON—Modification of the Pentagon's "need to know" formula, according to leading authorities, would stimulate American science more than would a billion dollar appropriation by Congress.

The "need to know" formula, which was developed during the Korean war, makes sense when applied to matters military. It merely provides that an officer, before being briefed on secret operational plans, prove that he needs to know those plans to perform his job.

This rule restricts the circulation of knowledge about operational plans, and thereby reduces the chance that an enemy will learn of them. Though this rule works well insofar as military matters are concerned, it has played hob with our scientists.

A scientist doesn't know what he needs to know. No more than a composer knows what music he should hear. Nor than a writer knows what other works he should read.

Folk music and popular tunes have inspired great compositions. Some great scores are variations of themes developed by earlier artists. That holds for literature as well as music.

And for science. One bright mind can stimulate another. On that basis, every scientist can claim a "need to know" the findings of others working in his field and related fields. But the need can't be demonstrated in cut and dry fashion. Because no one can say in advance what bit of knowledge will trigger the process of discovery in a human brain.

Enough is known from observations of genius in the past to say emphatically that the process of discovery is not always orderly. It's not often like those "proofs" you encounter in algebra or calculus. (Or which sometimes are not encountered at all, because the author fancies the student can work out the proof himself.) The human mind moves backward, forward, and sideways all at the same time. The rigorous demonstration is an afterthought.

But the mind has to have something to work on. Scientists know this well. And the government pays lip service to the concept.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Commercial airlines are responsible for the lives of thousands on every day of flight. Precautions must be taken to allow for many unforeseen emergencies. With air traffic as heavy as it is, planes cannot come into many airports immediately after arriving above their destinations. Planes must carry a goodly supply of extra fuel in order to stay in the air for their turn to land.

Even with this precaution, there are times when planes must land ahead of turn because they do not have enough fuel to remain too long in the approach pattern. Ground crews must be alert to care for forced or emergency landings in the midst of heavy traffic, everything is done to protect the lives of all passengers who fly.

Many individuals are less careful as they pilot their lives and souls through the maze of daily living. Would that we might learn to be aware of hazards to our spiritual well-being as are the airlines able to protect our physical well-being.

That's why the scientific community always has resisted any effort to put the "secret" stamp on basic research.

Basic research, incidentally, is an attempt to gain knowledge for which there is no apparent immediate application. It is an attempt to advance the frontiers of knowledge.

Most of us, no doubt, subscribe to the theory that humanity stands to benefit if these frontiers are pushed back faster. (For in time, knowledge is applied.) And the frontiers will be pushed back fastest if the results of basic research are circulated throughout the scientific community.

Roadblocks which retard the circulation of such knowledge have been established by the Pentagon. Almost every scientist who can talk is vocal in protesting this.

It's not only that some Pentagon types have a natural inclination to throw up roadblocks, but the scientists themselves have abetted the process. As was noted in an earlier column, some of the scientific types misrepresented several projects as "applied research" which were in fact "basic research." This dodge got the projects past ex-Defense Secretary Charles Wilson, whose bias toward basic research was no torious.

But there was a deferred price, for some of the projects still are classified.

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: Voice Is Mirror. Is one's inner evaluation of himself reflected in everyday speech?

Dr. Bryng Bryngelson of the University of Minnesota says that what a person says and the manner of saying it can be interpreted in relation to what he subconsciously thinks of himself.

One might try to lose himself in a crowd, paying no attention to appearances but concentrating on voices.

A soft, tear-soaked terrified baby voice may be heard. It belongs to a woman simply "overwhelmed by it all." Nearby is a foul mouthed, gum popping hipster with a vocabulary that goes no farther up the ladder than "yee . . . cool, man, cool" or in moments of complete ecstasy to "crazy."

Equally distasteful to the ear is the cold, bitter, positive man who takes issue with everything anyone says. Another example is the whiner who precedes every comment with a dramatic sigh or groan as she complains of the most current frustration or pain.

Since the impression we make on others may depend largely on one's voice, we should exert care in choosing and using words, for they reflect our personality.
